88 responses

No need ....learning experience is very good ...

verry good not suggestions

Lack of field visits, no students exchange programme, at least internship should to be on college end (not demanding any guaranted placement.)

1. Continous support from Faculty in areas of teaching course curriculum as well as personality development
2. Having experience that provides a different perspective and helps us take a positive approach towards our decisions.
3. Use of digitization and activities that will be of practical use in the future.

It's already doing great with great placement opportunities as I'm already placed

1.Emphasize Case Study Solving:
Instead of relying solely on online tutorials, it would be advantageous to incorporate case studies as a vital component of the evaluation process. These case studies can simulate real-life scenarios and encourage critical thinking, problem-solving, and decision-making skills. By analyzing and proposing solutions to complex problems, students will develop a deeper understanding of the subject matter and gain practical insights.

2.Introduce Project Assignments:
Introducing a project for every trimester would significantly enhance students' learning outcomes. Projects offer an opportunity to apply theoretical knowledge to real-world situations, fostering creativity, collaboration, and problem-solving abilities. By engaging in comprehensive projects, students can explore various aspects of their field of study and develop a well-rounded skill set.

3.Assessment Based on Project Performance and Case Study Solving:
In order to accurately assess students' understanding and competence, it is recommended to evaluate
